Foreword

HONOR IS DUE to each of the men and women, numbering 169,225 by 1945, who gave loyal and unstinting service in the Medical Department of the United States Navy during World War II. To those who suffered in combat, however, and were decorated, wounded, or killed we owe such special gratitude that it is fitting and proper for their sacrifices and achievements to be commemorated in this memorial volume. Here is a permanent record of those who made the supreme sacrifice, or were injured, or performed outstanding acts of heroism in the defense of their country and of the cause of world freedom.

The titanic struggle involved such diverse theaters and difficult communications that in spite of the most painstaking effort a perfect record is unattainable. A limited edition of this volume was printed in 1950, but because insufficient time for the assembling of data had elapsed since the cessation of hostilities, the lists prepared for it were of necessity incomplete. It was therefore decided to issue a revised printing, as nearly correct as could be produced from the records now accumulated.

All honor and respect to those whose names appear here, as well as to the few whose records may have been lost in some prison camp or sunken ship.

LAMONT PUGH,
Rear Admiral (MC),

Killed in Action

Eighty-two medical officers, 17 dental officers, 2 H-S officers, 2 Hospital Corps officers, and 1,046 enlisted hospital corpsmen, comprising a total of 1,149, have been listed officially as "Killed in Action." The majority of those killed were serving with Marine Corps units—in fact, deaths and wounds among "noncombatant" Medical Department personnel of the Navy often have been in greater proportion than among the Marines themselves. Hospital Corpsmen who accompanied the Marines into direct contact with the enemy were the targets of enemy sharp shooters as often as the troops to whom they were ministering.

Only those killed outright or who died within a few hours after being wounded are listed as "Killed in Action." There may be regrettable omissions from the lists, because battlefield casualty recordings necessarily are secondary to the local tactical situation and therefore often are incomplete.

Frequently the casualties of one unit are cared for and evacuated by the medical personnel of another unit. When there is no definite information concerning a man who cannot be located following an engagement, he is listed as "Missing in Action." Officially, after a period of 12 months, he is then regarded as having been killed in action, as of the date he was originally reported missing.

A complicating factor in determining the cost of war in human lives is the consideration of deaths due to disease or injury, not the result of combat. Although deaths from causes other than actual combat are as much incident to a war as a gunshot wound or shellfire, they are not listed in this book. It is recognized, nevertheless, that those who died as noncombatants gave their lives for their country in no less full measure of devotion.

KILLED OR DIED WHILE A PRISONER OF WAR

MILITARY CEMETERY, WAKE ISLAND.

Killed or Died While a Prisoner of War

Thirteen medical officers, five dental officers, five Hospital Corps officers, and 132 enlisted hospital corpsmen of the Navy Medical Department who were captured by the Japanese in the Philippine Islands were killed or died while prisoners of war, between 8 December 1941 and 3 February 1945. In a larger sense, each one was "Killed in Action."

The story of the imprisonment, starvation, privation, and repatriation, of the more than 300 Navy Medical Department personnel who were prisoners of the Japanese throughout the war, is told in volume I of this history. A Navy Medical Unit functioned as a naval hospital within Bilibid Prison in Manila, Philippine Islands, throughout the war. Several thousand American prisoners of war can attest to the hardships undergone by patients because the medical staff was hampered by a lack of food, medical supplies, and equipment. The physicians, dentists, and hospital corpsmen themselves, more often than not, should also have been patients.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

Evacuating Wounded Marines from Tarawa.

Wounded In Action

At least 3,117 commissioned officers and enlisted men of the Navy Medical Department were wounded in combat during World War II. These included 237 medical officers, 31 dental officers, 6 Hospital Corps officers, and 2,843 enlisted hospital corpsmen. Hundreds, perhaps thousands of others received war wounds for which there is no Bureau of Medicine and Surgery record. Slight wounds, not incapacitating, are often received in battle. Among medical personnel, as well as among troops, these wounds are often self-treated. Obviously, many of these wounds are never officially recorded or reported, owing to the urgency and necessity of caring for the seriously wounded combatants.

A "wound" for the purposes of this tabulation of the Purple Heart Medal is defined as an injury to any part of the body from an outside force, element or agent as a result of a hostile act at the hands of the enemy. For example, a man may be struck two or more times in different parts of his body by machine gun bullets. He is considered to have been "wounded in action." By the same token, a man may be knocked to the ground or against a bulkhead aboard a ship, by the force of a shell burst, sustaining multiple injuries. In each single engagement he is regarded as having been wounded once, even though he may have sustained two or more wounds. If, however, he is subsequently wounded, this is regarded as another "wound."

This definition is important in the awarding of the Purple Heart Medal. A Purple Heart Medal is awarded for the first "wound" and a Gold Star for each subsequent "wound." The Secretary of the Navy is authorized to award the Purple Heart Medal posthumously, in the name of the President of the United States.
